

IN PICARDY, WHERE THE GUNS OF THE FORE AND AFT

A British liquid fire attack at night on the German trenches in the Somme sector.
Underwood & Underwood

THE MAN WHO WANTS VERDUN. Germany's Crown Prince watching in a sport fete some of the soldiers destined for death in the onslaught on Verdun. This photo came to the United States on the submarine Deutschland.
Central News Photo Service

Holes made by a Russian bombardment preceding an attack on Austrian trenches in Galicia.
Universal Press Syndicate

THE WRECK OF A GERMAN TRAP. This house in one of the villages taken in the British drive housed a German machine gun battery before General Haig's artillery battered it.
Modern Photo Service

Sir Douglas Haig, commanding the British forces, which have pieced

the German lines in Picardy and repelled the counter attacks of the foe
Underwood & Underwood

A home for German war babies in Hermsdorf, near Berlin. This photograph came to the United States on the submarine Deutschland.
Central News Photo Service

IN THE FRENCH TRENCHES OF THE SOMME. The Germans have begun a furious bombardment in advance of an infantry attack aimed to recapture lost ground.
Underwood & Underwood